Michael A. Bogdan, MD, FACS

AESTHETIC PLASTIC SURGERY

When considering cosmetic surgery, the absolute top priority should be selecting a surgeon who has considerable experience, proven expertise, and a solid reputation both in the community and among his peers. Dr. Michael Bogdan is Stanford-trained, board certified in plastic surgery, and fellowship trained in cosmetic surgery. He is experienced, credentialed, and passionate about his field. "I love to operate and consider it a privilege with every patient," said Dr. Bogdan. "Making people happy by achieving their desired results is a great way to spend your days."

Qualified, Experienced, Trusted

Over the years, Dr. Bogdan has honed his surgical skills and focused on a select few surgical procedures. "I do a lot of Mommy Makeovers (tummy tuck, breast lift, liposuction) as well as facelifts and rhinoplasty procedures," he said. "It was during my residency that I discovered my love for the challenges of facial cosmetic surgery and rhinoplasty. It was then I decided to pursue additional fellowship training in aesthetic surgery."

"I love to operate and consider it a privilege with every patient," said Dr. Bogdan. "Making people happy by achieving their desired results is a great way to spend your days."

That's all great but what does it mean to you? Dr. Bogdan explained. "To become board certified in plastic surgery, you generally do five to six years of plastic surgery training, most of which is reconstructive work," he said. "My additional fellowship year in aesthetic surgery after residency was an intense time of working with world-renowned leaders in the field of cosmetic surgery."

Partnering with You to Showcase Your Best Self

Dr. Bogdan's Southlake, Texas practice reflects his personality. He is thorough, detailed, and thoughtful. "I like to spend a significant amount of time during the consultation getting to know my patients from both a medical standpoint as well as learning the goals they hope to achieve," he said. Dr. Bogdan is known for his conservative surgical approach, aiming for results that look and feel natural and refreshed. "I work closely with each of my patients to achieve satisfying outcomes that complement and enhance their best features." He also utilizes 3D imaging in all of his consultations to give patients the best view of the projected outcome.

"I just wanted to tell doctor Bogdan thank you so much for such a great experience with my Mommy Makeover! I could not be happier with the outcome and will be recommending your office to all the moms at our school. I can't tell you how much better I feel about myself and my self-esteem."—G.M., tummy tuck & breast reduction (Mommy Makeover) patient

Patients love that he performs most of his cases with his wife, Dr. Isidra Veve, who he met at Stanford where she taught cardiac anesthesia. "Working hand-in-hand with an anesthesiologist has obvious benefits, not only during surgery but also with managing post-operative pain," said Dr. Bogdan. "With our combined knowledge, we tailor the experience to make recovery comfortable and safe."
